1. Using your editor, open the ws_jfk_txt.html, ws_media_txt.css, and ws_captions_txt.vtt files from the html08 > case1 folder. Enter your name and the date in the comment section of each file, and save them as ws_jfk.html, ws_media.css, and ws_captions.vtt files respectively.	1
2. Go to the ws_jfk.html file in your editor. Insert a link to the ws_media.css style sheet file. Take some time to study the content and structure of the document.	2
3. Scroll down to the article element and directly below the h1 heading, insert a video clip with the controls enabled, displaying the poster image ws_jfk_poster.png file. Add two possible sources to the video clip: ws_jfk_speech.mp4 and ws_jfk_speech.webm, including the mime-type for each video source.	4
4. After the two video sources, add a captions track with the label speech captions using the source file ws_captions.vtt. If the browser does not support embedded video, display the paragraph: To play this video clip, your browser needs to support HTML5.	4
5. Save your changes to the file and then open the ws_captions.vtt file in your text editor. Add an initial line to the text file indicating that this file is in WEBVTT format.	2
6. Add the following track cues to the ws_captions.vtt file, labeling the captions 1 through 12 (times are in parenthesis): (00:01.00 - 00:04.000) We observe today (00:04.000 - 00:06.000) not a victory of party, (00:06.000 - 00:10.000) but a celebration of freedom - (00:10.000 - 00:12.000) symbolizing an end, (00:12.000 - 00:15.000) as well as a beginning - (00:15.000 - 00:17.000) signifying renewal, (00:17.000 - 00:19.000) as well as change. (00:19.000 - 00:22.000) For I have sworn before you (00:22.000 - 00:24.000) and Almighty God (00:24.000 - 00:27.000) the same solemn oath (00:27.000 - 00:30.000) our forebears prescribed (00:30.000 - 00:33.000) nearly a century and three-quarters ago.	6
7. Save your changes to the file and then go to the ws_media.css file in your editor. Within the Video Player Styles section, insert a style rule that displays video elements as blocks with a width of 90% and horizontally centered by setting the top/bottom margins to 5 pixels and the left/right margins to auto.	4
8. Create a media query for screen devices with a minimum width of 521 pixels. (See Tutorial 5 to review media queries.) Within the media query, create a style for video elements that sets the width of the player to 360 pixels, floated on the right margin with a margin width of 10 pixels.	4
